Why is chimney cleaning important?

- ❖ A chimney functions to remove the byproducts of burning fuel. It is important to maintain your chimney cleaning so carbon monoxide and other harmful fuel byproducts do not enter your home.
- ❖ Creosote and soot are natural byproducts of burning fuel, deposited on the inside of your chimney or flue pipe as a solid sticky, black layer that is highly flammable. This needs to be regularly cleaned from your chimney or flue pipe.
- ❖ To reduce build up and use fuel efficiently, keep your fires hot, and provide them with plenty of oxygen. Damping fires to keep them burning longer produces more smoke and solid by-products.
- ❖ Many home chimney fires take place each year and they are mostly due to lack of cleaning and maintenance
- ❖ Handi-Man Concepts can help you keep your chimney clean and improve the safety wood burning fires.
- ❖ We can take the worries out of your annual general maintenance, and add you to our chimney maintenance list, where our efficient office staff will contact you on a yearly basis to remind you when it is time to perform the proper maintenance, just prior to the wood burning season.

Safety Tips to Keep in Mind:

- Have you chimney annually inspected by a professional to keep it operating properly
- Burn properly aged wood, not green wood
- Burn fire hot to minimize creosote buildup
- Regularly check the outside parts of chimney and connecting part for any visible damage
